

Political Advocacy and Campaigning Policy

1. Prohibition on Political Campaign Intervention:

- The organization, groups associated with the organization or individuals officially representing the organization in any capacity are strictly prohibited from participating or intervening in any political campaign on behalf of (or in opposition to) any candidate for elective public office.
- This prohibition includes, but is not limited to, making contributions to political campaign funds, endorsing candidates, and publishing or distributing statements about candidates.

2. Permissible Activities:

- The organization may engage in nonpartisan voter education activities, including public forums and voter education guides, provided they do not show a bias for or against any candidate or political party.
- The organization may participate in issue advocacy that does not constitute political campaign intervention. This includes taking positions on public policy issues, provided these positions do not link to support or opposition of any candidate.

3. Legislative (Lobbying) Activities:

- The organization may engage in limited lobbying activities as long as these activities constitute an “insubstantial” part of its overall activities.
- Lobbying includes attempts to influence legislation by contacting members or employees of a legislative body or encouraging the public to contact their legislators.

4. Individual Activities of Representatives:

- Individuals associated with the organization (such as employees, volunteers, and board members) are free to engage in political activities in their personal capacity.
- Such individuals must clearly indicate that their political activities are personal and do not represent the views or positions of the organization.
- Use of the organization’s resources for personal political activities is strictly prohibited.

5. Educational Activities:

- The organization may conduct educational activities, such as distributing educational materials and conducting educational meetings, provided these activities are conducted in a nonpartisan manner.

6. Monitoring and Compliance:

- The organization will regularly review its activities to ensure compliance with IRS regulations and guidelines regarding political campaign intervention and lobbying.
- Any suspected violations of this policy must be reported immediately to the organization's leadership for review and appropriate action.

Enforcement: Non-compliance with this policy may result in disciplinary actions, up to and including termination of employment or volunteer status. Maintaining adherence to these guidelines is essential to protect the organization's tax-exempt status and to ensure compliance with federal regulations.
